(Section-A) (Reading)*Q.1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow: (1x8=8)

Honesty is one of the most important moral values in human life. It means being truthful in words, actions, and thoughts. An honest person always speaks the truth and does not try to deceive others for personal gain. Honesty builds trust, and trust is the foundation of all healthy relationships, whether in family, society, or the workplace.

In daily life, people often face situations where dishonesty seems easier or more profitable. Some may lie to escape punishment, gain money, or achieve success quickly. However, such success is temporary and often leads to guilt, fear, and loss of self-respect. On the other hand, honesty may appear difficult at first, but it gives long-term peace of mind and inner satisfaction.

Honesty plays a vital role in shaping a person's character. A child who learns honesty at an early age grows into a responsible and respected adult. Teachers and parents play an important role in teaching children the value of honesty through their own behavior. When elders act honestly, children naturally follow their example.

In society, honesty helps maintain order and harmony. Honest citizens obey laws, respect others' rights, and contribute positively to the nation's progress. Corruption, fraud, and injustice arise mainly due to the lack of honesty. A society where honesty is practiced becomes strong, fair, and trustworthy.

Though honesty does not always bring immediate rewards, it always brings dignity and respect. History shows that great leaders were admired not only for their achievements but also for their honesty. Thus, honesty is not just a virtue but a way of life that leads to true success and happiness.

- (i) What does honesty mean?
- (ii) Why do some people choose dishonesty in life?
- (iii) What does honesty give in the long run?
- (iv) Who plays an important role in teaching honesty to children?

Q.2 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow: (1x8=8)

Swami Vivekananda was one of the greatest spiritual leaders of India. He was born as Narendranath Datta in 1863 at Kolkata. From his childhood, he was curious, intelligent, and deeply interested in spirituality. He questioned everything and never accepted ideas blindly. His bold nature and sharp intellect made him different from other children of his age.

Swami Vivekananda believed that the true aim of life was to serve humanity. According to him, service to mankind was service to God. He strongly opposed social evils like poverty, superstition, caste discrimination, and blind faith. He believed that the strength of a nation lay in its youth and constantly inspired young people to be fearless, confident, and self-reliant.

He gained world recognition after his historic speech at the Parliament of the World's Religions held in Chicago in 1893. His opening words, "Sisters and Brothers of America," received a standing ovation and instantly made him famous across the world. Through his speech, he explained the philosophy of Vedanta and the spirit of universal brotherhood. He emphasized tolerance, harmony, and respect for all religions.

Swami Vivekananda stressed the importance of education. However, he believed that education should not only provide information but also build character and confidence. According to him, education should help in the development of moral values and inner strength. He wanted an education system that would empower people and make them capable of facing life's challenges.

Swami Vivekananda lived a simple life and practiced what he preached. Though his life was short, his teachings continue to inspire millions. His message of strength, faith, and service remains relevant even today. He taught people to believe in themselves and reminded them that each soul is potentially divine. Otters belong to a comparatively small group of animals called mustelines, shared by the badger, mongoose, weasel, stoat, mink and others. I narrator faced a continuous barrage of conjectural questions that spayed all the mustelines but the otter. More random guesses hit on 'a baby seal' and 'a squirrel'. Is that a walrus, mister? Reduced me to giggles, and outside a dog show I heard 'a hippo' a beaver, a bear cub, a leopard-one, apparently, that had changed its spots-and a 'brontosaurus'. Mij was anything but an otter. But the question for which I awarded the highest score came from a laborer digging a hole in the street. I was still far from him when he laid down his tool, put his hands on his hips, and began to stare. As I draw nearer I saw his expression of surprise and affront, as though he would have me know that he was not one upon whom to play jokes.
